SINE QUA NON (California)

Though the wines are already of the highest quality and sell out quickly each vintage, the Krankls continue to strive for improvements. Their philosophy is to work in small batches, utilizing gravity flow and natural yeasts. The wines are at once rich and elegant, superbly balanced and thoroughly harmonious with food, never overwhelming.

824. Sine Qua Non "Hated Hunter" 2017 $665
{82.4% Syrah, 7.8% Petite Sirah, 5.2% Mourvedre, 2% Grenache} (California, Central Coast)

GUIDO RIVELLA (Italy, Piedmont)

The wines of Guido Rivella can be summed up in one word: perfection. As the winemaker for Angelo Gaja for 47 years, Rivella knows a thing or two about making Barbaresco. Although the azienda was only established in 2010, the Rivella family owned practically the entire Montestefano cru in Barbaresco throughout the nineteenth century.

ELLISON ESTATE VINEYARD (Vermont, Grand Isle)

Ellison Estate works with Vermont-climate-resistant hybrids like Prairie Star, Louise Swenson, La Crescent, Marquette, Frontenac noir and St. Croix. All wines are made with native yeast fermentations and minimal intervention in the family's basement winery. Experimental but always delicious: we've been eyeing this promising Vermont endeavor for a while, and in fall 2022 we were finally able to secure a bit of their still small-scale production. ~Jenny & Francois
